SUBJECT: Notification of Eligibility for Retired Pay at Age 60

LTC Richard C. Rescorla USAR
15 Dale Drive
Morris Street, NJ 07960

1. This is to notify you that having completed the required years of service you will be eligible for retired pay, upon application, at age 60 under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67. This eligibility may not be denied or revoked on the basis of any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination of years of creditable service unless it resulted from fraud or misrepresentation on your part. However, adjustments to creditable service may be made to correct any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination. When such corrections are made, your retired pay will be based upon the corrected number of years of creditable service.
2. You will not be entitled to retired pay under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67 if you are now or later become entitled to retired pay from an armed force under any other provision of law or to retainer pay as a member of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.
3. You are no longer required to earn a minimum of 50 points each retirement year to retain an active status. This requirement has been rescinded. If you have questions concerning participation you should address your inquiry to the Commander, US Army Reserve Personnel Center, ATTN: DARP-MSR-R, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri 63132-5260, or to your Area Commander if you are unit assigned.
4. Reservists who have completed 20 years of qualifying service for retirement may be eligible for the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Program. An application for this purpose is enclosed. Your application should be forwarded directly to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102. Final determination as to insurability will be made by that office.
5. You are now entitled to participate in the Reserve Component Survivor Benefit Plan (RC-SBP) established by Public Law 95-397. This plan enables you to provide an annuity for your spouse, and other eligible beneficiaries. UPON RECEIPT OF THIS LETTER OF NOTIFICATION OF ELIGIBILITY FOR RETIRED PAY AT AGE 60, YOU HAVE 90 DAYS IN WHICH TO ELECT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN OR REMAIN UNCOVERED BY THE PLAN UNTIL YOU BECOME 60 YEARS OLD AND ARE AGAIN AFFORDED THE OPPORTUNITY.
6. More detailed information concerning participation in the Reserve Components Survivor Benefit Plan (RC-SBP) and Election of Option forms for this purpose are contained in the enclosed RCPAC Pamphlet 135-2.

MONTHLY COST AND ANNUITY

Spouse only (no eligible children). Cost of coverage is 2½ percent of the first $300, plus 10 percent of any designated retired pay in excess of $300. If a child becomes eligible, cost of coverage will be increased as determined in the next section. The increase in cost is effective the first day of the month following eligibility of such child.

Spouse and eligible children. The cost of coverage will be 2½ percent of the first $300 of the base amount plus 10 percent of the remainder plus a slight additional charge for children's coverage that will vary depending on your age, your wife's age, and the age of your youngest child. The additional charge should generally be about one-half of one percent of the amount of retired pay designated.

Eligible children only (no spouse). The cost of coverage will vary depending on your age and the age of your youngest child but should generally be about 3 percent of the amount of retired pay designated.

Cost reduction - children. When all children cease to be eligible for an annuity, the additional cost for child coverage shall stop. The reduction in cost is effective the first day of the month following that in which the last child ceases to be eligible for an annuity.

Natural interest person. Cost of coverage is 10 percent of full retired pay, plus an additional 5 percent of full retired pay for each full five years that your age exceeds that of the natural interest person. The total cost may not exceed 40 percent of retired pay.

Annuity - spouse and/or eligible children. Full coverage provides an annuity of 55 percent of retired pay. Reduced coverage provides an annuity of 55 percent of the reduced amount elected.

Annuity - natural interest person. The annuity payable is 55 percent of retired pay remaining after cost of coverage has been subtracted.

PRIVACY ACT STATEMENT

AUTHORITY: Public Law 92-425, 21 Sep 72; E.O. 9397.

PRINCIPAL PURPOSE(S): Used by retirees who retired subsequent to September 20, 1972, to enroll in the Survivor Benefit Plan at less than maximum limits.

SUBJECT: Notification of Eligibility for Retired Pay at Age 60

DARC-RAS-CB

LTC RICHARD CYRIL RESCORLA
15 DALE DR
MORRIS STREET NJ 07960

1. This is to notify you that having completed the required years of service you will be eligible for retired pay, upon application, at age 60 under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67. This eligibility may not be denied or revoked on the basis of any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination of years of creditable service unless it resulted from fraud or misrepresentation on your part. However, adjustments to creditable service may be made to correct any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination. When such corrections are made, your retired pay will be based upon the corrected number of years of creditable service.
2. You will not be entitled to retired pay under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67 if you are now or later become entitled to retired pay from an armed force under any other provision of law or to retainer pay as a member of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.
3. You are no longer required to earn a minimum of 50 points each retirement year to retain an active status. This requirement has been rescinded. If you have questions concerning participation you should address your inquiry to the Commander, US Army Reserve Personnel Center. ATTN: DARP-MSR-R, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri 63132-5200, or to your Area Commander if you are unit assigned.
4. Reservists who have completed 20 years of qualifying service for retirement may be eligible for the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Program. An application for this purpose is enclosed. Your application should be forwarded directly to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102. Final determination as to insurability will be made by that office.
5. You are now entitled to participate in the Reserve Component Survivor Benefit Plan (RC-SBP) established by Public Law 95-397. This plan enables you to provide an annuity for your spouse, and other eligible beneficiaries. UPON RECEIPT OF THIS LETTER OF NOTIFICATION OF ELIGIBILITY FOR RETIRED PAY AT AGE 60, YOU HAVE 90 DAYS IN WHICH TO ELECT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN OR REMAIN UNCOVERED BY THE PLAN UNTIL YOU BECOME 60 YEARS OLD AND ARE AGAIN AFFORDED THE OPPORTUNITY.

MORRIS STREET NJ 07960

1. This is to notify you that having completed the required years of service you will be eligible for retired pay, upon application, at age 60 under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67. This eligibility may not be denied or revoked on the basis of any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination of years of creditable service unless it resulted from fraud or misrepresentation on your part. However, adjustments to creditable service may be made to correct any error, miscalculation, misinformation, or administrative determination. When such corrections are made, your retired pay will be based upon the corrected number of years of creditable service.
2. You will not be entitled to retired pay under the provisions of Title 10, US Code, Chapter 67 if you are now or later become entitled to retired pay from an armed force under any other provision of law or to retainer pay as a member of the Fleet Reserve or Fleet Marine Corps Reserve.
3. You are no longer required to earn a minimum of 50 points each retirement year to retain an active status. This requirement has been rescinded. If you have questions concerning participation you should address your inquiry to the Commander, US Army Reserve Personnel Center, ATTN: DARP-MSR-R, 9700 Page Boulevard, St. Louis, Missouri 63132-5200, or to your Area Commander if you are unit assigned.
4. Reservists who have completed 20 years of qualifying service for retirement may be eligible for the Servicemen's Group Life Insurance Program. An application for this purpose is enclosed. Your application should be forwarded directly to the Office of Servicemen's Group Life Insurance, 212 Washington Street, Newark, New Jersey 07102. Final determination as to insurability will be made by that office.
5. You are now entitled to participate in the Reserve Component Survivor Benefit Plan (RC-SBP) established by Public Law 95-397. This plan enables you to provide an annuity for your spouse, and other eligible beneficiaries. UPON RECEIPT OF THIS LETTER OF NOTIFICATION OF ELIGIBILITY FOR RETIRED PAY AT AGE 60, YOU HAVE 90 DAYS IN WHICH TO ELECT TO PARTICIPATE IN THE SURVIVOR BENEFIT PLAN OR REMAIN UNCOVERED BY THE PLAN UNTIL YOU BECOME 60 YEARS OLD AND ARE AGAIN AFFORDED THE OPPORTUNITY.

Dear Ms. Stewart:

I am a reporter for The Washington Post. I am doing a long profile on a hero of the September 11 attacks, Army Col. Rick Rescorla (Ret.), who was director of security for Morgan Stanley and evacuated thousands of people. His name was originally Cyril; he changed it to Richard. He was also a hero in Vietnam, and I hereby request any ~~and~~ of his military records releasable under the Freedom of Information Act, particularly his award commendations and the actions he took to merit them. (Including Silver Star, Bronze Star, Purple Heart) His SS# ~~is~~ was 129-36-8271.

I would appreciate these records ASAP. I'm eager to tell history. Thanks!

NOTIFICATION OF RECEIPT OF FOIA REQUEST

PART I – ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

On 10/4/01 the National Personnel Records Center received your request made under the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA).

Because of the number of inquiries we are receiving, additional time will be required to complete action on your request. Every effort will be made to respond as promptly as possible.

If it is necessary to write to us again, please enclose this notice.

PART II – (applicable only if checked below) FREEDOM OF INFORMATION ACT AND THE RIGHTS OF INDIVIDUALS SEEKING ACCESS TO RECORDS ABOUT THEMSELVES

It was not necessary for you to cite the Freedom of Information Act (FOIA) when you sent us your recent request. You would have been granted access to the information/records without citing the Act. The FOIA is a disclosure statute granting access to the public to final opinions and orders of agencies, policy statements and interpretations not published in the Federal Register, and to certain other Federal records. This Act is not designated for use by individuals seeking access to records about themselves. Inquiries of this nature fall within the provisions of the Privacy Act (5 U.S.C. 552a).

The Privacy Act covers records which are retrievable by the name of an individual or by other individually identifiable data. Each agency must annually publish a listing in the Federal Register of the record systems which it maintains. The individual identified in the record must be granted a right of access to the file and must be given a right to challenge the accuracy of the information contained in it, a provision that is not included in the FOIA. The individual also may authorize a third party access to information or copies of these records. In addition, the parent of a minor or the legal guardian of an individual who has been declared to be incompetent may act on behalf of the individual.

Whenever the FOIA is cited in a request, even if not needed, we must maintain certain statistical data for the annual report required by the Congress. The special controls and additional paperwork required for FOIA requests merely increases the time it normally takes us to answer a request. Therefore, in the interest of saving time, we urge that the FOIA not be cited in requests such as the one that we are responding to at this time. Please be assured that no information or record will be withheld that would be released under FOIA procedures.

Thank you for your cooperation.

A Tower of Courage

On September 11, Rick Rescorla Died as He Lived: Like a Hero

By Michael Grunwald
Washington Post Staff Writer
Sunday, October 28, 2001; Page F01

NEW YORK

"You watching TV?"

Rick Rescorla was calling from the 44th floor of the World Trade Center, icy calm in the crisis. When Rescorla was a platoon leader in Vietnam, his men called him Hard Core, because they had never seen anyone so absurdly unflappable in the face of death. Now he was vice president for corporate security at Morgan Stanley Dean Witter & Co., and a jumbo jet had just plowed into the north tower. The voices of officialdom were crackling over the loudspeakers in the south tower, urging everyone to stay put: Please do not leave the building. This area is secure. Rescorla was ignoring them.

"The dumb sons of bitches told me not to evacuate," he said during a quick call to his best friend, Dan Hill, who had indeed been watching the disaster unfolding on TV. "They said it's just Building One. I told them I'm getting my people the [expletive] out of here."

Keep moving, Rescorla commanded over his megaphone while Hill listened. Keep moving.

"Typical Rescorla," Hill recalls. "Incredible under fire."

Morgan Stanley lost only six of its 2,700 employees in the south tower on Sept. 11, an isolated miracle amid the carnage. And company officials say Rescorla deserves most of the credit. He drew up the evacuation plan. He hustled his colleagues to safety. And then he apparently went back into the inferno to search for stragglers. He was the last man out of the south tower after the World Trade Center bombing in 1993, and no one seems to doubt that he would've been again last month if the skyscraper hadn't collapsed on him first. One of the company's secretaries actually snapped a photo of Rescorla with his megaphone that day, a 62-year-old mountain of a man coolly sacrificing his life for others.

It was an epic death, one of those inspirational hero-tales that have sprouted like wildflowers from the Twin Towers rubble. But it turns out that retired Army Col. Cyril Richard Rescorla led an epic life as well. In this time when heroes are being proclaimed all around, when brave actions are understandably hailed as proofs of character, here was a man whose heroism was a matter of public record long before Sept. 11.

At the same time, Rescorla's own fascination with heroism and hero-tales was a matter of private record. He even co-wrote a screenplay about the World War II infantry legend Audie Murphy. Rescorla was a man of introspection as well as action, and some of his final soul-searching e-mails provide an eerie commentary on his final day.

Rescorla, after all, was once an infantryman himself, declared a "battlefield legend" in the 1992 bestseller "We Were Soldiers Once . . . and Young." Another photo of Rescorla -- gaunt back then, unshaven, carrying his M-16 rifle with bayonet fixed -- graced the book's cover and became an enduring image of the Vietnam War.

The survivors of the 7th Cavalry still tell awestruck stories about Rescorla. Like the time he stumbled into a hooch full of enemy soldiers on a reconnaissance patrol in Bon Song. Oh, pardon me, he said, before firing a few rounds and racing away.

"Oh comma pardon me," repeats Dennis Deal, who followed Rescorla that day in April 1966. "Like he had walked into a ladies' tea party."

Or the time a deranged private pulled a .45-caliber pistol on an officer while Rescorla was nearby, sharpening his bowie knife. "Rick just walked right between them and said: Put. Down. The. Gun," recalls Bill Lund, who served with Rescorla in Vietnam. "And the guy did. Then Rick went back to his knife. He was flat out the bravest man any of us ever knew."

Rescorla was also a passionate and complex man, a writer and a lawyer, as well as a blood-streaked warrior and six-figure security expert. At his home in suburban Morristown, N.J., he carved wooden ducks, frequented craft fairs, took playwriting classes. He wrote romantic poetry to his second wife, Susan, and renewed their vows after just one year of marriage. "He was a song-and-dance man," she says. He was a weeper, too. He liked to quote Shakespeare and Tennyson and Byron -- and Elvis and Burt Lancaster. He was a film buff, history buff, pottery buff -- "pretty much any kind of buff you can be," says his daughter, Kim. He liked to point his Lincoln Mark VIII in random directions and see where it would take him.

In his last days, Rescorla had been reading up on Zen Buddhism and the Stoics, contemplating the directions his own life had taken him. A few years ago, he had been diagnosed with prostate cancer that had spread into his bones. His doctors had given him six months to live. But the cancer was in remission, and he couldn't help but wonder what it all meant. In a Sept. 5 e-mail to his old friend Bill Shucart -- once a medic in Vietnam, now the head of neurosurgery at a Boston hospital -- he mused about kairos, a Greek word for a cosmically meaningful moment outside of linear time.

"I have accepted the fact that there will never be a kairos moment for me, just an uneventful Miltonian plow-the-fields discipline . . . a few more cups of mocha grande at Starbucks, each one losing a little bit more of its flavor," he wrote.

But Rescorla's moment was coming soon.

'A Natural Number One Man'

This American story began in England.

Rescorla was born in Hayle, a seaport on the north coast of Cornwall. He was the only child of a single mom, although he didn't know that as a boy. He thought he had a traditional family with married parents, a much older sister and an older brother. He only found out later that his parents were really his grandparents. His "sister" and "brother" were his mother and uncle. No matter. It was still a close family. He called his mother Sis until the day he died. He never did meet his father.

Rescorla's neighbor and friend Mervyn Sullivan, a retired meter reader, remembers him as "a natural number one man," a broad-shouldered, curly-haired man-child who wowed the girls and led the boys. Rescorla, known as Tammy then, was also a talented, hypercompetitive rugby player. Sullivan still sports a scar on his forehead where Rescorla kicked him 50 years ago while chasing a ball -- and Rescorla was on his team that day.

"There was no need for that kick! No one was anywhere near us. We could've had a cup of coffee!" Sullivan recalls. "But that was Tammy, you know. Totally committed."

Hayle was a working-class tin-mining town, and the Rescorlas were a working-class family. But Tammy wanted to see the world -- and some action. He joined the British paratroopers as a teenager, then served as an intelligence officer in violence-torn Cyprus. He later joined Her Majesty's colonial force in Northern Rhodesia as a commando. As Northern Rhodesia -- now Zambia -- began its transition to independence, Rescorla returned to London to serve in Scotland Yard's elite "flying squad" of detectives. But the job and the paperwork bored him.
